

Objectives

The central purpose of this project is to anticipate near and medium-term shifts in the world through research. Value is derived from these convictions in two ways: through disciplined investment in capital markets, and through the publication of papers and public commentary.